RESEARCH INTERESTS	Language and thought, linguistic relativity, conceptual representation, semantic typology, second language acquisition, bilingualism, cross-linguistic influence, mechanisms underlying language learning
EMPLOYMENT	Post-doctoral fellow 2019–present Max Planck Institute for Psycholinguistics, Nijmegen (Netherlands) and Department of Linguistics at Stockholm University, Stockholm (Sweden) Post-doctoral researcher 2017–2018 Centre for Research on Bilingualism, Stockholm University, Sweden PhD candidate 2011–2017 Centre for Research on Bilingualism, Stockholm University, Sweden
EDUCATION	Stockholm University, Stockholm, Sweden 2011–2017 Ph.D. in Bilingualism, June 2017 Centre for Research on Bilingualism and Special Doctoral Programme in Language and Linguistics Dissertation title: “Thoughts in Motion: The Role of Long-Term L1 and Short-Term L2 Experience when Talking and Thinking of Caused Motion” Main advisors: Emanuel Bylund, T. Florian Jaeger Paternity leave: 01–04/2013, 12/2013–02/2014, 10/2014–05/2015 (c 15 months) Stockholm University, Stockholm, Sweden 2010–2011 Master of Arts in Education (Spanish and French) Paris–Sorbonne University, Paris, France 2002–2007 Master de recherche, Etudes Romanes — Espagnol Licence Espagnol, Mention Français Langue Étrangère
FURTHER EDUCATION & TRAINING	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Donders (f)MRI Tool-kit, Donders Centre for Cognitive Neuroimaging, Nijmegen, Netherlands, 3–7 June 2019• Professional Development Course on Teaching and Learning (7.5 ECTS), Stockholm Univ, Spring 2018

- Functional magnetic resonance imaging: data analysis and experimental design (doctoral course, 1.5 ECTS), Department of Neuroscience, Karolinska Institute, Stockholm, Sweden, Nov 2017
- Kavli Summer Institute in Cognitive Neuroscience, UC Davis / UC Santa Barbara, June–July 2017
- Research stays in Florian Jaeger’s lab, Dep. of Brain and Cognitive Sciences, Univ. of Rochester, USA; April–May 2014 and Oct 2015
- Mathematics/statistics: Fundamental algebra and analysis (30 ECTS), Probability Theory (7.5 ECTS), Linear algebra (7.5 ECTS), Factor analysis with applications (7.5 ECTS)
- Summer School in Bilingualism, Bangor University, July 2012
- IMPRS NeuroCom Summer School, London, July 2011
- Foundation Research Methods in Psychology, Middlesex University London, 15 ECTS, June–July 2011

FUNDING

Stockholm University Brain Imaging Centre (SUBIC) time grant to collect pilot data for fMRI study, approximate value 24 000 SEK (2300 EUR), June 2020.

Travel grant from Wenner-Gren Foundation for participation at ESCoP conference (Tenerife, Spain), 8 000 SEK (750 EUR), September 2019.

Three-year International Postdoctoral grant from the Swedish Research Council for the project “Do concepts in our brain depend on the language we speak?”, 3.15 million SEK (315 000 EUR), 2019–2021.

Travel grant from the IDO foundation for a research stay at the MPI for Psycholinguistics (Nijmegen, NL) during Spring 2018, 13 840 SEK (1 400 EUR), November 2017.

Travel grant from Kungliga Vitterhetsakademien for participation at the workshop Event Representations in Brain Language and Development at the MPI for Psycholinguistics (Nijmegen, NL), 10 000 SEK (1 040 EUR) October 2017.

Travel grant from Stiftelsen Elisabeth och Herman Rhodins minne for participation at EuroSLA 27 (Univ. of Reading), 11 000 SEK (1 130 EUR), 2017

Travel grant from Gunvor och Josef Anér's stiftelse for participation at the Kavli Summer Institute in Cognitive Neuroscience 2017 (UC Davis, UC Santa Barbara), 13 000 SEK (1 330 EUR), 2017

Travel grant from Kungliga Vitterhetsakademien for participation at CUNY 2016 (Univ. of Florida), 17 000 SEK (1 820 EUR), 2016

Travel grant from Helge Ax:son Johnsons Stiftelse for research stay at Univ. of Rochester (USA), 17 000 SEK (1 820 EUR), 2015

Travel grant from Gålöstiftelsen for study trip to the USA (Univ. of Rochester, Univ. at Buffalo, Univ. of Chicago), 18 000 SEK (2 000 EUR), 2014

REVIEWING (AD HOC)

Bilingualism: Language and Cognition; Cognition; Cognitive Linguistics; Cognitive Semantics; eLife; International Journal of Multilingualism; John Benjamins series Language Learning and Language Teaching; Language and Cognition; Language Learning; Lingua; Linguistic Approaches to Bilingualism; National Science Foundation (NSF); Neuropsychologia

TEACHING

- Guest lecture on registered reports for Key Practices for the Language Scientist. IMPRS doctoral course, Max Planck Institute for Psycholinguistics, Nijmegen (Netherlands), 13 Feb. 2020
- Psychology of Language and Cultural Cognition (co-instructor). Research Master Linguistics and Communication Sciences, Radboud University, Nijmegen (Netherlands), Fall 2019
- Guest lecture on pre-registration for Behavioral Methods (BCS 511). Doctoral course at Univ. of Rochester, Rochester, NY (USA), 21 Nov. 2019
- Statistics and statistical methods (individual reading course). Doctoral course at Centre for Research on Bilingualism, Stockholm Univ., Spring 2018

- Theory and Method in Second Language Research (co-instructor). Undergraduate course at Centre for Research on Bilingualism, Stockholm Univ., Spring 2018
- Data analysis for Master's students. Workshop in three sessions, Stockholm Univ., Spring 2016
- Second language acquisition. Undergraduate course at Centre for Research on Bilingualism, Stockholm Univ., Fall 2015
- Statistics and statistical methods (co-instructor). Doctoral course at Centre for Research on Bilingualism, Stockholm Univ., Spring 2015
- Second language research. Undergraduate course at Centre for Research on Bilingualism, Stockholm Univ., Fall 2013

MENTORSHIP

- Teun van Gils, PhD advisor (co-promotor), IMPRS Max Planck Institute for Psycholinguistics; Fall 2019–ongoing
- Pia Järnefelt, MA thesis advisor, Stockholm University; Spring 2019
- Petrus Isaksson, undergraduate thesis advisor, Stockholm University; fall 2018
- Gaston Prieto, undergraduate thesis advisor, Stockholm University; fall 2018

DEPARTMENTAL SERVICE & OTHER ACADEMIC ACTIVITIES

- In charge of bi-weekly Journal Club. Neurobiology of Language Department, Max Planck Institute for Psycholinguistics, Nijmegen (NL). Jan 2020–ongoing
- Statistical support for researchers at the departmental level. Department for Swedish and Multilingualism, Stockholm Univ. Fall 2013–2018
- Responsible for statistical analyses in Tisus (Test in Swedish for university studies). Stockholm Univ. Fall 2013–2016
- Launcher and organizer of weekly lab meetings at Centre for Research on Bilingualism, Stockholm Univ. January 2016–December 2018
- Launcher and organizer of the Data Analysis and Statistics Study Group, Stockholm Univ. 2014–2015
- Co-organizer of graduate student workshop Challenges in Quantitative Semantics, Stockholm University. June 2013
